FOREWORD:
A TRIP THROUGH OUR TOWN

Our hearts and heads lift as we view our town, Central. We pause and remember the events that have passed since we came here as sophomores. We have had our individual and class fun, successes and failures. Every incident has been a step in the preparation to become a full fledged citizen of the world.

The yearbook is essential in keeping a record of the years spent in high school. In the following pages we take you on a pictorial tour of our town. Won't you come along?

At the left, citizens of our town enjoy a street dance. Below, townsfolk, seeking wordly wisdom, gather in the town hall to hear town reports and to applaud town talent.

CITY LIMITS

Robed in a mantle of "Old Man Winter", Central stood forth in the purity that clung to her trees, bushes, and steps. While this snow remained the January class left our town to meet the world and its perplexing problems.

Mrs. Dorothy Faughnder at the switchboard.

DEDICATION: THE CHIEF CLERK

To a woman loved and respected by the faculty and student body of Central High, to a woman who gives of her unending time, patience, and energy to all of us, we gratefully dedicate the 1943 Centralian.

Mrs. Dorothy Faughnder, chief clerk of our office, daily guides our lives through her spirit of fellowship. We thank her, now, for adding to the pleasant memories of our three year stay at Central. Mrs. Faughnder, who was graduated from Central High, has rendered faithful service to the school for the past ten years, as a member of the office force. In this time she has gained the respect and admiration of her fellow workers, the faculty and students. Always a twinkle in her laughing brown eyes, a smile and word of encouragement for those in trouble, and a witty saying for everyone . . . these are but a few of the ways in which she has endeared herself to all of us.

Long after we have graduated we shall look back and remember Mrs. Faughnder, who truly personifies the spirit of Central, as we believe it should be.

OFFICE CLERKS:

TOWN'S EDGE

Framed in the splendor of summer green, our town bade farewell to the June class, and stood ready to welcome those who would return in the fall.

TO MEMBERS OF THE 1943 GRADUATING CLASS

As part of your school life you have gained some understanding of the long struggle of humanity, at times advancing, at times retreating. We have reason to believe that the developments of this year, 1943, will have most vital consequences in your lives. You may be about to enter a golden age of opportunity; you may live in a period of great confusion and hardship.

Whatever comes, hold fast to great ideals and enduring truths which will ultimately win in the life of the individual and the nation. Stand firmly for the finer things in human life.

CALVIN W. JARVIS, Principal

PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL

TO MEMBERS OF THE 1943 GRADUATING CLASS

You are leaving Central during one of the most momentous years in the history of the world. Doubtless you will face serious responsibilities immediately after your graduation. Some of your classmates are now in the service; many more will be called in the near future. Young women of the classes will be joining various organizations in order to do their share in winning the victory for democracy.

May your many interests in the better things of life continue to grow, so that after the war is won, you may make a real contribution to the winning of the peace.

ANNA BELLE THOMAS,
Assistant Principal

Above: Mr. Anthony Buresh — Geometry. Miss Eleanor Nickerson—Geometry, Advanced Algebra, and Trigonometry. Miss Hannah Nutter—Geometry and Algebra, Department Chairman.

Mr. Rodgers, affectionately called the "Mr. Chips" of Central, is the typical devoted schoolmaster. His favorite saying is: "Stop your chatter." An estimated 5,000 students have sat in his classes since he came here . . . The favorite pastime of Mr. Buresh is reading; and for a man about the world, he says he enjoyed Quebec, Canada the most . . . Residing on the north side, Miss Nutter, department chairman, has traveled a distance more than twice around the world in coming to and from school. In spite of this, or maybe because of it, she has confided that she wants to visit every state in the Union. . . . Like many other teachers, Miss Nickerson thinks Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies is the most beautiful place she has ever seen. Almost every week-end she visits her home at Elk River. During the summer, she spends much of her time tending her garden there.

NEW ADDRESSES

Because of the changes in enrollment, personnel, and courses, some of our instructors have taught new subjects. Mr. Mulligan instructed in United States history; Mrs. Drechsler, in world history; Miss Liskey, in Spanish; Mr. Buresh, in trigonometry; Mr. Rodgers, in refresher mathematics; Mr. Hepp, in glider construction; Mr. Lander, in wood turning; Miss Wayne, in first aid; and Mr. Schadegg, in physics and aviation science.

Since every student likes to know more about his teachers, the faculty editors present "faculty sketches," not as a literary masterpiece, but as "something different."

ASSESSORS

Mr. Walter Rodgers—Advanced Algebra, Solid Geometry, and Refresher Mathematics.

The head of the science department of our town is Mr. Rohde. "Hank's" favorite pastime is "monkeying with his car"; and his greatest thrill was visiting the United States Supreme Court . . . Mr. Emerson, co-author of the chemistry laboratory manual used in our town, is a whiz at chemical formulas . . . His manual is used in all Minneapolis high schools . . . Miss Edlund agrees with the advertisements that say Minnesota is the ideal vacation land. She likes Lake Itasca best. She has spent three summers there in botanical research . . . That wide grin on the right belongs to Mr. Schadegg, the beloved adviser of the Centralian. "Milt" is also supervisor of the first Civil Air Patrol Cadet Squadron in the United States . . . Miss Korista, adviser of the Blue Triangle, regretfully states that she has to postpone her plans for traveling until after the war . . . Mr. Peck's ambition is to go to Texas; and we hope those songs about "Deep in the Heart of Texas" won't keep him there.

Lower left: Miss Frances Korista—Biology. Mr. Ross Peck—Biology.

In our town we sometimes hear people say that high school students don't have much culture and that they acquire little real education. But they have pleasures of a kind. Central students enjoy Shakespeare, they do well in art and creative writing, and this year they presented "The Ballad for Americans"—that is just about as far as they go. They have a happy spirit; for the time they are carefree. Human beings rarely realize life while they live it — and so with our school. It's too wonderful to appreciate while we're here—that will come after our three years here are over.

Lorine Grosz,
Chairman, English Dept.

TOWN'S LITERARY ELITE

Every one at Central who aspires to be a journalist soon meets the adviser of the News, Mr. "Jack" Mulligan, who is a well-known authority on journalism . . . The war efforts of the town's council are made evident by Miss Iles who is a Red Cross Nurses' Aide . . . Problems arise daily in the minds of our underclassmen. These young citizens who bring their burdens to their counselor, Miss Bell, invariably go away with their difficulties solved and their despondent spirits raised. Miss Bell's greatest desire is to see Madame Chiang Kai-Shek . . . A must in every citizen's life is to see the class play. The June plays are under the able direction of Miss Grosz; and naturally, her favorite hobby is dramatics. Busy as she is, she still reads a great deal.

Upper right: Miss Lorine Grosz—English, Department Chairman. Lower: Miss Louise Iles—English. Mr. John Mulligan—English and United States History. Miss Clare Bell—English and Counselor.

SHAKESPEAREAN CITIZENS

Something's wrong when Miss Henry doesn't grace 3 or 4 every 6 weeks in the Quest. Need I say more? Ed.

A child's flight of imagination was confided by Miss Henry whose childhood ambition was to fly like a bird. Now she avidly attends plays and concerts . . . Another alderwoman in our town's council is Miss Setterberg, coach of the January Class Plays. She devotes a great deal of her spare time to selling war bonds and stamps . . . At Central, we have an author of several English textbooks. This character in the drama of our town is Mrs. Cook, who is "Cookie" to her friends . . . The pupils of Miss Fox will never forget the saying "You don't know you don't know." To her that is the height of stupidity . . . Miss Parkell can draw from her store of knowledge anything you want to know about English . . . "Got a pass?" "Well, no." "Then you'll catch it from Miss Utley." One of the interests of this watcher of halls is politics . . . Miss Abigail O'Leary (not pictured), adviser of the Quest, one of the best magazines in the country, has for her hobby antique glass.

Mrs. Nora Smith—English. Miss Harriet Miller—English. Mrs. Helen Gamble—English. Lower right: Mrs. Jeannette Brice—Librarian.

ENGLISH EXPERTS

Continuing with the English department, we see Mrs. Smith. Her ambition is to see Europe after the war. Seeing Pavlowa dance was her greatest thrill . . . A lasting memory will be Mrs. Gamble's favorite phrase: "It's never too late to mend." Her hobby is ornithology . . . That teachers are always working to increase their knowledge is evident in Miss Miller who received her Master's Degree at the University of Minnesota in the summer of 1942. She is an instructor of English . . . Mrs. Brice, the librarian, would like to fly to Europe in her own plane; but now she devotes her weekends to the Red Cross in which she is a Nurses' Aide.... Although Miss McDill (not pictured) has traveled all over the world, she likes best to climb the mountain trails of Colorado. She teaches English and Shakespeare.

TOWN LIBRARY

The library, an important cog in every town, is a much used room at Central. Here the students gather for reference and pleasure reading. It is the center for training the future readers and librarians of our town and the world.

TRUANT OFFICER

Mrs. Marion Boyd is the visiting teacher. In our town's jargon she is the feminine truant officer. She calls on an absentee who has no 'phone; she tries to persuade students who want to quit school to continue; and she has charge of the rental of school books. These in a nutshell are her duties.

Mrs. Marion Boyd

BUSINESS EXECUTIVES

Mr. Clifford Hume (not pictured) left Central in January after teaching typing for only one term . . . A large percentage of the pupils at Central take a commercial course. These students inevitably have Miss Scott, an "A" senior adviser, for office practice . . . Another typing teacher is Miss Zanger. Her favorite place is San Francisco, and her hobbies are reading and seeing movies . . . The teacher of beginning typing is Miss Myrtle Turnquist (not pictured), the department chairman. Her hobby is managing a summer resort at Mille Lacs Lake . . . The hobby of Mr. Nordby is remodeling old houses . . . The sympathy of everyone for war victims is confirmed by Miss Agnes Carey (not pictured) who sent holiday gifts to thirteen veterans at the Veterans' Hospital. She teaches stenography and transcription.

Mr. Walter Nordby—Typing. Miss Georgia Scott—Typing and Office Practice. Miss Helen Zanger—Typing, Bookkeeping and Stenography.

Mr. Thomas Cunningham — Mechanical Drawing and Architectural Drawing. Mr. Maylon Hepp—Cabinet Shop, Woodturning, and Glider Construction.

Mr. Guy Lander—Machine Shop, Woodturning and Mechanical Drawing.

And now, you basketball fans, haven't you always wanted to know more about the coaches? Well, here goes about "Mitch." Mr. Mitchell's favorite hobby is cows. (Wonder if he supported the "back to the farm" movement.) His ambition is to live on his farm and raise pedigreed cattle.

MASTER MECHANICS

Because of the pressing need for skilled workers in war plants, Mr. Lander trains machinists. He must be praised for having six full classes a day. Busy as he is, he somehow finds time to fish for muskellunge . . . Another teacher with six classes a day is Mr. Hepp, department chairman. Neither of these teachers has an advisory. The time that Mr. Hepp can spare from construction work he spends in sports . . . At the right is Mr. Dunnewald who taught glider construction during the fall semester . . . Also teaching industrial arts is Mr. Cunningham. Because he and his wife love children very much, they care for five orphans. In his classes he is training boys in pre-induction drawing for aircraft drafting . . . Our town's cabinet shops this year made folding chairs, folding tables and smoking stands for the Red Cross.

HOME BUILDERS

To prepare the girls at Central for future duties as the managers of households, Miss Daniels teaches them the culinary arts. Outside of school "Dot" aides the Red Cross in building up the health of the public by teaching nutrition classes . . . Miss Legate adds her vote of praise for the Canadian Rockies as the most beautiful place she had ever seen, but her greatest regret is that she could not visit Europe before the war . . . "Go West, young man, go West." That sentence was as appropriate in 1849 as it is in 1943, so far as Miss Wald is concerned, for she would like to go West—just to sightsee, not to live . . . Miss Ruhnke has several hobbies: golf, skating, and swimming.

Lower: Miss Dorothy Daniels—Cooking.

TOWN TRANSLATORS

Katherine, Sie ist süsz, nicht wahr?
Alice F. Drechsler

TOWN'S ARTISTIC ELITE

Although one is urged to take mainly "constructive courses," Latin is still very valuable. Its instructor, Miss Conway, is also studying Spanish . . . If you ask a student of German what Miss Liskey's favorite ejaculation is, the answer "Aber, aber" would be inevitable. Outside of teaching two languages at Central, she is teaching an adult Spanish class . . . The greatest desire of Mrs. Drechsler, who is vitally interested in peace organizations, is to have the world at peace. This is the desire of every teacher and pupil in Central, we think.

Isn't there an old saying, that everyone is an artist at heart? If it is true, your talent is quickly brought out by the art teachers. Miss "Connie" Turner's greatest ambition is to have an art colony in Mexico with all of her students there. Keeping in accord with her work, she has silk-screen painting as one of her hobbies . . . Coming to Central in 1941 from West High, Miss Bireline also teaches art. Her hobby is flower gardening.

TOWN'S MUSICMASTERS

VILLAGE MUSCLEMEN

To guard against enemy bombers, Mr. "Charlie" Wohlford is now an air-raid warden. His ambition is to take a trip on the Alcan Highway . . . Although little-known, Mr. Ranks is well-liked by his pupils. His nickname is "Doc." In keeping with his music, he is a church organist . . . Because of the need for fighting fitness during a war, all boys at Central take gym. Their physical instructors are "Joe" Markley and "Ed" Weber. Mr. Markley's ambition is to educate his two daughters. Last semester Mr. Weber had the girls' first aid classes. How he had trouble with them! When he told them to be quiet, they giggled! His favorite pastime is playing with his children, Mary and Richard . . . The girls' gym teacher is Miss Ziemer. Her favorite saying is "Jeepers Jenny." In girls' sports, she has a national rating for basketball refereeing.

Above: Mr. Charles Wohlford—Music and World History. Mr. Harry Ranks—Applied Music. Right: Miss Eugenia Ziemer—Physical Education. Mr. Joseph Markley—Physical Education and First Aid. Mr. Edmund Weber—Physical Education and First Aid.

Mr. Charles Addington—Civics and Commercial Law. Mrs. Marie Berg—United States History. Mr. Robert Classon—United States History and World History.

TOWN'S POLITICAL PEDAGOGUES

To understand our country, we must know its life and government. The head of the social science department is Mr. "Bill" Hawker, who also coaches the track team. His hobby is golf . . . Being coach of the golf team shows that Mr. Addington likes golf, too. "Chuck's" ambition is to visit California . . . Although her avocations are many, Mrs. Berg's chief interests lie in music and travel . . . Miss Lobdell, who is taking a course in Spanish, illustrates our desire to know South America better. She wants to travel through the Straits of Magellan . . . Known to all at Central and to all who have attended Central is Mr. Kuenster. "O.K.'s" favorite phrase is "Take a good straight position" . . . Mr. Robert Classon, former adviser of Current Affairs Club, and the "A" senior class, was one of the best loved teachers at Central. He left Central in January, on a leave of absence, to work in the personnel department of the Federal Cartridge Company, New Brighton, Minn.

O. Kuenster

Upper left: Mr. William Hawker—Sociology, American History, and Department Chairman. Mr. Orrin K. Kuenster—Civics. Miss Lucille Lobdell—United States History.

Miss Mary Powers — Civics and World History. Mr. Absalom Erdahl—formerly Scandinavian and United States History.

TOWN CURATORS

Can anyone ever forget the careful counting of points in hope of getting a "B" in the classes of Mrs. Pink (not pictured)? Never! Her ambition is to travel all over the country in a trailer . . . One of the kindest and most jovial teachers is Miss Powers. She wants to be a news commentator on the radio . . . Although Mr. Erdahl left in January, we don't think he will ever miss a Central football game . . . The essential health service of our town is provided by the nurse, Miss Walborg Wayne (not pictured), who also aids the war effort by working at the blood bank.

Maintenance Crew

The six janitors and two janitresses who take care of the heating, ventilating, and cleaning in our town did a good job again this year. The janitors are Mr. Martin, chief engineer; Mr. Hultman, assistant engineer; Mr. Hammerstad; Mr. Knudson; Mr. Behlke; and Mr. Stay, a newcomer in our town. Mr. Holmberg, Mr. Winn, and Mr. Malkerson who are pictured at the right, are no longer at Central. The two janitresses are Mrs. Opitz and Mrs. Lee. Mrs. Lee is new to Central.

Our town's restaurant is under the supervision of Miss Wald, lunchroom manager, and six cooks: Miss White, Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. Gewett, Mrs. Gasvee, and Mrs. Anderson. In the picture at the right are Miss Carlstrand, Mrs. Manson, and Mrs. Lovel who have left our town.

OUR TOWN'S WAR EFFORT

THE TEACHERS OF CENTRAL SERVE UNCLE SAM

Two teachers who were in our town in 1942 left to go into the armed forces. These soldiers are Mr. Armas Pelto, who taught stenography, transcription, and typing, and Mr. Edward Krueger, who taught civics and United States history. Mr. Pelto enlisted in October, 1942 and remained in the army until March, 1943. While in the service, he was stationed at Stillwater, Oklahoma. At the present, he is teaching commercial arithmetic at Lincoln Junior High. Mr. Krueger, a lieutenant, senior grade, in the Navy Air Corps, is an instructor in aeronautics. He was stationed part of the time at Kokomo, Indiana. Not only do we have male teachers in the armed forces, but one of the feminine sex is also serving our country. Miss Gladys Chamberlin, who taught English at Central, has joined the WAAC. She is beginning her work at the WAAC Training Center at Des Moines, Iowa. She plans to work to qualify for officer training.

In home defense, Mr. Schadegg is a lieutenant in the Civil Air Patrol and supervisor of the Civil Air Patrol Cadets at Central. He is also state co-ordinator of the cadet program. Serving in a smaller job, but no less important, is Mr. Wohlford, an air raid warden. In the women's division of our town's civilian army are Mrs. Brice and Miss Iles who are Red Cross Victory Aides. To relieve the shortage of trained nurses, women have been trained to take over the duties that do not require medical training. Both of these teachers completed 180 hours of work before last September. From then until April, Mrs. Brice gave 200 hours of service, and Miss Iles 300 hours. They work every other Saturday and whenever they are called.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION, pictured below, made city-wide headlines many times! As a matter of historical record we thought our book would not be complete without their picture.

THE JANUARY CLASS OF 1943

Under the leadership of Dick Wagner, president; Helen Ricker, vice-president; Elizabeth Swanson, secretary; and Paul Gillen, treasurer, the January class led an eventful senior year. As soon as a cabinet was elected to assist the officers the class swung into action.

They adopted an enlarged budget which included the publications as well as the usual senior expenses. The homicidal comedy, "Arsenic and Old Lace," was presented in December. Miss Ruth Setterberg directed the production. A party well worth remembering was cleverly carried out by the social committee.

The Representative Centralites chosen by the class were Helen Ricker, Elizabeth Swanson, Marjorie Linberg, Carol Mork, Connie Bendickson, Dick Wagner, Paul Gillen, John Finnegan, Dick Heeb, and Dick Kranz. Senior advisers were Mr. Classon, Miss Nickerson, and Miss Turner.

THE CLASS OF JUNE 1943

Intent upon making their "A" senior term one that they could look back on with pleasure, the June Class exercised great care in choosing the students who were to guide them. Bob Fergeson was elected president; Bette Mindrum, vice-president; Esther Dokken, secretary; and Martin Conway, treasurer. As soon as the class was organized, they subscribed to a budget which included all the necessary senior expenses and the publications. The following class cabinet was chosen:

Class Play Chairman.....Carol Berge
Class Day Chairmen
Mary Jane BaDour and Chuck Deeds
Class Memorial Chairman....Emanuel Sandberg
Class Picture Chairman.....Doris Anderson
Social Chairman.....Jay Skarnes
Publicity Chairman.....Donna Dalquist
Program Chairman.....Patricia McRoberts
Service Chairman.....Howard Zesbaugh
College Day Chairman.....Susan Breckenridge
Class Dress Chairman.....Joan Overson

All four officers were chosen as Representative Centralites. Others elected were Mary Jane BaDour, Carol Berge, Patricia McRoberts, Ed Bard, Jack Marshall, and Jay Skarnes. A class play was presented under the direction of Miss Lorine Grosz and a very successful class party was held.

THE GALE PRIZE ESSAY FOR 1942

CHEMOTHERAPY AND MODERN MEDICINE

While we are hearing of men who are constantly trying to find a better method of blowing themselves to bits, it is comforting to remember that there are also a few men who are trying to lessen the pain and suffering in the world by means of modern medicine. One branch of modern medicine which has revolutionized methods of fighting disease is technically known as chemotherapy. To us, chemotherapy means fighting disease with chemicals. The subject becomes more familiar, perhaps, when the term "sulfa drugs" is introduced.

We have not known of sulfa drugs for such a great length of time. They were discovered in 1932 and have a most fascinating history. The development of their use during peace time led to many discoveries of "miracle cures" of diseases which have puzzled men of medicine for years. So miraculous, in fact, was the work of one sulfa drug, sulfapyridine, that it was named "the drug for hopeless cases." The use of the sulfa drugs has expanded so much during the last few years and has proved so beneficial in its effectiveness against disease that it will have a great effect on the health and happiness of the human race both during and after the present war.

We owe a debt to scientific Germany—a kinder Germany than we now see—the fatherland of great men of science such as Paul Ehrlich and Gerhardt Domagh, who could not receive the Nobel Prize for Medicine which was awarded to him because it was "verboten" by Nazi law.

A research chemist of Germany, the country which led the world in organic chemistry, before 1914, unknowingly discovered a drug which he derived from coal tar. His name was Gelmo and he was an employee of Barbenindustrie, a dye concern in Germany. He discovered this ruby red dye in 1910, and it was used as such for about 22 years. Had the world only known that a magic life saver could be derived from that dye, tens of thousands of lives might have been saved during the last great war. It was not until 1932 that Gerhardt Domagh, a famous doctor from the University of Kiel, astounded the world with the most revolutionary drug ever discovered. He used the unknown compound of Dr. Gelmos, sufanilamide, and a naphthalene-containing substance which was formerly used to kill moths; and from that test tube have come over one thousand two hundred compounds from the United States alone in the past ten years.

Not only to Domagh and Gelmo do we give credit for the discoveries of all of these sulfa drugs. Although they laid the foundation, it took many years for men to find new and useful compounds for chemotherapy. Great medical men of the Rockerfeller Institute in America such as Heidelburger and Jacobs and other men of Germany such as Mietsch and Klarer played an important part in making this world a healthier place in which to live through chemotherapy.

What properties are found in sulfanilamide that are bringing it so much praise? What factors make men justified to call it a miracle drug? The answer lies in the fact that it combats over 50 diseases of which meningitis, pneumonia, tonsillitis and impetigo are more common. When we observe that the sulfa drugs act on so many diseases and that other drugs usually act on only one or two, it might be assumed, by theory, that these drugs don't necessarily kill the specified germs themselves, but that they slow up the process of normal functions of both body and germ, but that the body builds up a natural immunity to the weakened germ even though its own processes are slowed up. This assumption is one of three prevalent theories, none of which are proved to be true. No one knows exactly how the drugs in the sulfa group act when in the body. It is accepted, however, that the sulfa drugs cannot do the job alone, but need the cooperation of the body in combating the disease germ.

Except to research men, it is not especially important to know in what manner the drugs kill germs. What does matter to us is that they do save thousands of lives every year. Each year, various diseases are being defeated by the use of new sulfa drugs being discovered by research workers of today. As an example of these discoveries, a nasal spray of sulfathiazole brought greater relief from symptoms of chronic sinus infection than any other method used in a test reported by Dr. Fredrich Myles Turnbill of Los Angeles. According to his test, 40 of 43 patients enjoyed relief or definite improvement. Of the three who reported no improvement, two suffered from hay fever and one had the flu, but improved later. Increased drainage was found in 20 of the 40 cases and also relief from congestion, fullness, heaviness, and pressure headaches and opening of nasal passages.

This is just one instance of the discoveries of a man who is not just trying to see what he can get out of this world, but is trying to put something into it. The labors of many more men just like him have led to the successful use of the drugs on infected burns, ulcers, compound fractures, infected cavities, and in infection of the eye, ear, nose, throat, lungs, kidney, and bladder. Never again will influenza be the killer it has been because the tireless efforts of those men have resulted in a "sulfa drug" cure of this widespread disease.

Chemotherapy is having and will have a very important role in helping us to reduce the number of men who will be permanently injured because of the ravages of war, and disease which usually accompany war. Many soldiers carry a form of sulfanilamide in their first aid kit either to swallow when wounded or to sprinkle on the wound itself. This drug, when applied directly or indirectly to severe wounds, eliminates infections and prevents a large number of amputations. Sulfathiazole, when introduced into the bodies of men with gonorrhea, a disease which is found in many of our fighting men, prevents the devastating complications of crippling arthritis and blindness. In the Dutch East Indies and surrounding territory, sulfaguanadine is being extensively used against cholera, dysentery, and other tropical diseases.

We can be thankful that, no matter whether we are confronted with war or peace, there are men who are striving to make the world a healthier place in which to live. The field of chemotherapy has a great future opening up ahead. Discoveries of cures as marvelous as some recent ones will no doubt, be in store for the world. We might forget the names of those men of medicine and live on, unassumingly taking for granted their discoveries; but they will not forget that there is still a tremendous amount of pain and suffering in the world that can and will eventually be relieved by the modern miracles of modern medicine.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The income from the Gale Prize Essay is awarded annually in three prizes of $15, $10 and $5 to those members of the graduating class who write and deliver the three best original thousand-word orations in English. The foregoing essay was awarded first place and was delivered at the June Commencement exercises of 1942.

THE 1943 CENTRALIAN

This year, because of a new policy formulated by the Board of Education, it was necessary to know whether Central students would support the Centralian before work could begin. Therefore, an early fall subscription drive was held. As part of the campaign, the staff presented an assembly which featured Mr. George Anderson, a magician. The goal of 1100 subscriptions was reached and publication of the 1943 Centralian was assured.

Staff appointments were made by Mr. Milton F. Schadegg, adviser, after candidates for positions on the staff had taken a two-hour written examination. The theme "Our Town" was then chosen and the dedication was decided on. The dummy was drawn by Paul Granlund, art editor, and Donna Dalquist, layout editor; the literary staff in charge of Betty Swanson produced the copy; and the advertising staff, under the direction of Betty Anderson, started toward its goal of $400.

Another assembly was presented on March 11. Cedric Adams with a "Truth and Consequences" program was the highlight of the show.

Centralian Day was held in June. As soon as the annual was distributed, students were busily exchanging autographs in their 1943 Centralians.

THE CENTRAL HIGH NEWS

No town is complete without a weekly gazette. There is no activity at Central which has won so much fame for the school as the "Central High News." For the last 21 years it has been advised by Mr. John Mulligan.

That its popularity is not a matter of opinion is proved by the fact that the News has annually obtained over 1000 subscriptions for the last several years.

Further proof of its excellence is shown by the fact that for years the News has been given the Pace-maker All-American award. This is given by the National Scholastic Press Association to only 14 school papers in the United States.

Our News has also received the International Honor Rating, the highest award given to a high school newspaper by the Quill and Scroll, national journalistic society.

THE QUEST

In 1923, the English teachers at Central decided that the school needed a literary magazine and chose the first staff themselves. Since then the Quest, under the direction of Miss Abigail O'Leary, has set a record to be envied by any other school. The Quest promotes an interest in creative writing by our town's students.

In the Short Story Division of the Scholastic Magazine Contest, Charles Damon won third prize for his story "The Nomads." Other awards were: Fourth Prize, Betty Beedle; Honorable Mention, Donald Paulsen and Phyllis Dvorak. In the Atlantic Monthly contest "There's Always Next Year" by Charles Damon was awarded first place. In the essay department of the same contest "One To Be Remembered" and "Welcome Home," both by Millicent Chatterton, were awarded Honorable Mention. Charles Damon was also awarded the first prize in both the essay and story divisions from the Writers Club of the Columbia University.

TOWN COUNCILMEN

STUDENT COUNCIL

Each advisory group elected one student as representative to the Junior Student Council. This Council formed a link between the Senior Student Council and the advisories, enabling these three groups to work together. The members took suggestions from the advisory groups to the Senior Council and reported back to their rooms the progress made by the Councils. The chairman of the Senior Council presided over the Junior Council meetings and presented new ideas.

The Senior Student Council met and carried out its aim of forwarding the idea of student participation in the government of the school. At these meetings, the council members, with Miss Thomas as adviser, discussed problems of the school and their possible solution. In the spring, the council received bids for sunlights. They also planned assemblies and revised the "points for office" system for the school.

In the fall, Paul Gillen, Marvin Asp, and Helen Ricker were elected president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer, respectively. Spring officers were Robert Peterson, president; Donna Dalquist, vice president; and Patricia McRoberts, secretary-treasurer.

THE BLUE TRIANGLE

The main fall activity of the Blue Triangle was a combination farewell to seniors and mothers and daughters tea. In the spring they had talks by such speakers as Myndall Cain, hair stylist. With the help of various school clubs the Blue Tri obtained a service flag in memory of those in school Dec. 7 who are now in the service.

Fall officers were Elizabeth Swanson, president; Bette Mindrum, vice president; Marjorie Linberg, secretary; and Mary Jean Wilson, treasurer. Spring officers were Bette Mindrum, president; Patricia McRoberts, vice president; Susan Breckenridge, secretary; and Virginia Melahn, treasurer.

THE SILVER TRIANGLE

The Silver Triangle of the Girl Reserves, advised by Miss Kate Ruhnke and Miss Florence Legate, consisted of sophomore and "B" junior girls. The 65 members sold flowers for the class play, cut out puzzles and stories for the United Service Organizations and brought old clothes for the Red Cross.

The officers elected in the fall were Betty Lou Keller, president; Barbara Hill, vice president; Elaine Rorem, secretary, and Betty Peterson, treasurer. In the spring Jeanne Snobeck was elected president; Irene Andresen, vice president; Mavis Miller, secretary; and Ruth Bunke, treasurer.

THE GIRLS' CLUB

"Growth, Education and Service" is the motto of the Girls' Club. The purpose of the club is to develop the highest standard of womanhood, to promote a spirit of cooperation and fellowship and to encourage education along lines of social betterment and service. At the meetings, the second and fourth Thursdays of each month, girls of the sophomore, junior and senior classes of Central heard speakers and became better acquainted with each other.

The fall officers were Bette Mindrum, president; Donna Dalquist, vice president; Virginia Lull, secretary; and Susan Breckenridge, treasurer. Spring officers were Mary Jane BaDour, president; Elaine Rorem, vice president; Joan Overson, secretary; and Wilma Dingley, treasurer.

HALL MONITORS

The hall monitors were a part of the plan for student participation in school government. It was the duty of these monitors to check all passes to see if they had correct date and time, written in ink or colored pencil, and were signed by a faculty member, thus entitling bearer to be in the halls. Visitors in the lower halls also had to show passes.

HALL MONITORS

Under the supervision of Miss Lulu B. Utley, adviser, the hall monitors succeeded in carrying out their purposes: "To keep order in the halls and to guide visitors through the building." This year, due to a school board ruling, monitors were stationed at all the lunchroom doors to prevent students carrying food outdoors and into the halls. They kept the lunchroom and stairs clean and orderly and also kept students on the first floor until three minutes before the bell rang so that classes in action would not be disturbed.

THE BANKERS

The Bankers this year had a double duty. Along with their regular duty of banking the money for the students of Central, they did their best for Uncle Sam. With Mrs. Hellen Pink as adviser, the Bankers had a large war stamp and bond sale on December 7, 1942. Those for the fall were Richard Copperud, president; Paul Brown, vice president; Betty Christianson, second vice president; and Stanley Horn, secretary. Spring officers were Chic Horn, president; Kenneth Heidelberg, vice president; Rosalind Tkach, publicity director; and Jo Ann Peterson, correspondence secretary.

ACADEMIC ACES

THE NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Until last year, when it was reorganized under the direction of Miss Drusilla Hutchinson and Mrs. Luella Cook, the National Honor Society had been an inactive organization to which a few seniors were admitted shortly before their graduation.

Then its membership limits were expanded to include 5% of the "A" junior class and 10% of the "B" senior class who have a scholastic average of at least 2.3, as well as 15% of the "A" senior class who have at least a 2. average.

Officers were elected and an agendum was planned. The society tried to promote the interest of scholarship within the school. An impressive induction service was held at which Dr. A. C. Krey of the University of Minnesota was the principal speaker. Other activities of the society included assemblies given by the different departments of the school and a sophomore assembly. On the social side of the ledger they had two induction parties and a picnic.

Charles Damon was elected president for the fall term. Other officers were Patricia McRoberts, vice president; Helen Ricker, secretary; and Robert D. Peterson, treasurer. Charles was re-elected for the spring term as was Robert. Carol Berge served as vice president and Betty Swanson as secretary. The advisers were Mrs. Cook, Miss Lucille Lobdell, and Mr. Henry Rohde.

THE STAGE CREW

The stage crew was organized to provide a different and original stage setting for every dramatic production and for all assemblies. This year, supervised by Mr. Charles Wohlford, it prepared the stage for all productions. Any day last fall one could see Harold Tkach, electrician, fixing the switchboard. The other members were John Kleven, stage manager; Bud Jarvis, projectionist; Jack Loberg, carpenter; and Bill Baden, John Amundson, and John Almen, stage hands.

The officers for the spring were Bud Jarvis, electrician; Jack Loberg, stage manager; Bill Baden, flyman; John Almen, projectionist; John Amundson, sound technician, and Robert Bair and Larry Rowe, stage hands.

THE PROJECTIONISTS

Strongly connected with the Stage Crew, the Projectionists supply movie machines and operators to all teachers wishing them. The five members learned the proper technique of handling and caring for the machines. They served the school by operating the projectors for the teachers and for assemblies.

To become a projectionist a boy must have a knowledge of electricity and be interested in operating the machines. Fall officers were Harold Tkach, president; Marvin Asp, vice president; and William Starkey, secretary. Spring officers were John Almen, president; John Loberg, vice president; Bud Jarvis, secretary. They were advised by Mr. Charles Wohlford.

CIVIL AIR PATROL CADETS

By LORRAINE CURRY, Feature Editor

At present there are 68,000 men and women members of the Civil Air Patrol in the United States. These members are fighting the war in their single-motored planes, operating within and along the boundaries of the United States. These "Flying Minute Men" carry the torch for the future of civil aviation in this country. To the Civil Air Patrol Cadets this torch will be thrown . . . is thrown.

Organization of the first Cadet Squadron in the United States was accomplished here at Central on October 15, 1942, soon after the government proposed the C.A.P.C. To this squadron fell the task of mapping out a program without the aid of a manual.

At present there are 44 cadets at Central. Requirements for service in the C.A.P.C. are: Physical fitness; satisfactory work in studies in an accredited high school; enrollment as a junior or senior (with exceptions); and citizenship in the United States. The motto for the Central C.A.P.C. is "Civil Air Patrol Cadets, America's Future." The first cadets commissioned were: Harlan Petersburg, Commander; Bill Christie, Adjutant; Billy Chapman, Training and Operations Officer.

The cadets' training during the first half year included much military drill, and military discipline and courtesy. They also learned interior guard duty, panel signaling, and protective concealment. They perform airport duties at the University airport.

Mr. Milton F. Schadegg, aviation science instructor at Central, became the first Cadet Supervisor when the cadets were formed last October. Under his supervision the cadets have made progress toward the goal of a self-operating, non-flying auxiliary to their parent squadron No. 711-4. Major Horace E. Read, Wing Commander; Lt. Kenneth Jordon, Squadron Commander; and Lt. Don Hamilton (Central High, class of 1923) have also guided cadet activities.

The cadets sponsored a Sunlight in March to raise funds for future expenses. Up to that time the squadron expenses had been borne entirely by the cadet organization.

Central's Civil Air Patrol Cadets, we salute you!

All eyes were on Lieutenant Schadegg as he led instruction Thursday nights at the Armory.

JANUARY CLASS PLAY

The First Nighters are in their seats . . . the house lights are dimmed . . . and the curtain rises on the first act of "Arsenic and Old Lace."

This sparkling combination of mystery, comedy, and romance, written by Joseph Kesserling, was presented to the First Nighters by the January Class, under the direction of Miss Ruth Setterberg, with the assistance of John Finnegan.

The action centered around Martha and Abby Brewster (LaVerne Hawkins and Marlys Peterson), two homicidal old maids. With a bottle of arsenic, a bottle of elderberry wine, and a basement full of twelve dead elderly gentlemen, many unusual incidents occurred at the Brewster home in Brooklyn. The situation was made more ridiculous by the insane Teddy Brewster (Art Clough), who believed he was Theodore Roosevelt.

More complications set in with the arrival of Jonathan Brewster (Earl Schultz), who had just escaped from prison, and Dr. Einstein (Glen Hovde), who was Jonathan's henchman.

Amidst all this, Mortimer Brewster (Dick Kranz) and Elaine Harper (Carol Mork) were making plans for their marriage.

The leading roles were strongly supported by Dick Copperud, Norman Hockridge, John Nemec, Paul Brown, Jack Leighton, Bill Arvan, and John Finnegan.

With the final curtain closing on the cast the First Nighters went away with a happy memory of one of the best plays presented.

The doorman blew the whistle . . . the First Nighters passed out into the street . . . and the house lights were again dimmed out.

MIMES AND MUMMERS

In addition to their traditional Christmas play, which this year was "The Enchanted Christmas Tree," the Mimes and Mummers sponsored a spring assembly. The main feature of this assembly was a short one act play, "Archie Comes Home." Chic Horn, Carol Berge, and Patty Dickerson played the leads.

Organized under Miss Lorine Grosz, the main purpose of the club is to further an interest in dramatics. The officers for the fall were Patty Dickerson, president; James Westbrook, vice president; Joan Dale, secretary; and Arnold Weisman, treasurer. Patty Dickerson also served as president during the spring term. The other officers were Waldron Lowe, vice president; Mary Skogsberg, secretary; and Art Bolter, treasurer.

"AND CAME THE SPRING"

The Class Play Committee pictured below under the direction of Miss Lorine Grosz, adviser, and Carol Berge, chairman, selected "And Came the Spring" as the June class play. The story told the perplexing life of a teen age girl, Midge Hartman, in the springtime. She had the characteristics of every girl her age all over the world. She was still unique. She started tornadoes, disrupted romance, fell in love with the wrong boy, dropped a bombshell into her father's business and in general was a whirlwind.

THE GLEE CLUB

Under the direction of Mr. Charles A. Wohlford, the Glee Club served the school again this year. Although they had no major activities for the year, they practiced faithfully and took part in the combined Christmas party of all musical organizations. To become a member of the Glee Club a person needed a liking for music and an ability to sing. A tradition of the club is having only boy presidents. Since its founding in 1913, it has never had a girl for president. Besides singing for assemblies, the members fostered an interest in music among Central students.

Fall officers for the Glee Club were Luther Dehnel, president; Marilyn Alm, vice president; Peggy O'Donovan, secretary; and Florence Zumberge, treasurer.

THE CHOIR

In 1935 a need for a choir arose and Mr. Wohlford organized one. This fall, the choir served the school by singing at the annual Thanksgiving program and also at the Baccalaureate services. They united with the other musical organizations in giving a gala Christmas party. This year as a service to the community they sang over station WLOL and also at Calvary Lutheran Church.

Fall officers for the Choir were Esther Dokken, president; Helen Spong, secretary; Larry Vollmer, treasurer; and Ronald Nelson, librarian.

ELITE ENTERTAINERS

THE ORCHESTRA

The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Charles A. Wohlford, had a profitable year. The 25 members served the school by playing for the Christmas and Thanksgiving assemblies and for the Baccalaureate and Commencement programs. They not only derived personal pleasure from their associations with one another but also improved individually. The players practiced and perfected such songs as "The Jolly Robbers," by Suppe and "The Raymond Overture" by Thomas.

To be a member of the orchestra, a person had to be able to play an orchestral instrument satisfactorily. They did not have the usual officers but an executive committee which consisted of Lowell Holmes, Joyce Engstrom, and Bette Mindrum, read over the music.

THE BAND

With an executive committee of Jerry MacDonald, Keith Brings, and Pat Seydel, the band again served the school by playing for the year's assemblies. In the fall the 45 players pepped up the football team by playing at the home games. They participated in the Christmas party of the musical organizations and derived personal enjoyment by playing together.

In the spring the 34 members brought batons and instruction was given in directing by Mr. Charles A. Wohlford, director.

The Majorettes twirled their way into the hearts of all football fans. In the spring they took positions in the band.

THE BOTANY CLUB

The Botany Club was formed in 1920 to promote interest in botany and nature and to further good fellowship. In the fall the 20 active members combined their efforts to put on a successful and profitable holly sale. Members of the club were stationed at the school entrances and sold holly to the students as they came into the building.

In the fall, Bonnie Everts was elected president; Marian Blake, vice president; Shirley Prellwitz, secretary; Donald Schramm, treasurer; and Donald Iverson, sergeant-at-arms.

Due to the city-wide economy program, Central's greenhouse was not maintained this winter. The Botany Club missed this opportunity to carry on their usual laboratory training.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB

The Commercial Club was founded to extend to members knowledge helpful to them in the business world. Any junior or senior taking a commercial subject is eligible for membership.

The club members head speakers who specialized in a certain field of business. They saw a movie sponsored by the Navy; and they held a party each semester.

Miss Agnes Carey was adviser during the fall term. Elaine Carlson was president; Marjorie Skjie, vice-president; Elaine Tack, secretary; and Nick Kakos, treasurer. Officers for the spring term were Margaret Fitch, president; June White, vice-president; Jo Ann Gordon, secretary; and Anna Stathis, treasurer. Miss Georgia Scott was spring adviser.

The aim of the Skylite Club is to gain social and cultural understanding of art and to render service to the school. The club took its name from the skylight windows in the art rooms. Members looked forward to the traditional trips to the art centers and to sketching from models. The club adviser was Miss Constance Turner.

In the fall, Beverly Wilmot was elected president; Earl Maynard, vice-president; Virginia Howells, secretary; Pearl Hong, treasurer. Spring officers were Paul Granlund, president; Earl Maynard, vice-president; Pearl Hong, secretary; Doris Brink, treasurer.

This year the Latin Club bought a War Bond with their clube dues. However, the aims of the club did not change. With Miss Conway as adviser, the club's purpose is to increase interest in Latin language and literature. They combined with the Modern Language Club for a Christmas party and presented a play about the Latin Christmas.

The officers for the fall were Betty Swanson, president; Betty Stanberry, vice-president; Carol Berge, secretary; and John Sanford, treasurer.

As their spring contribution, the club put on their annual Shamrock and Bow Sale for St. Patrick's Day. Spring officers were Jean Newberg, president; Phyllis Hubbard, vice-president; Walter Zesbaugh, secretary; and Rosemary Hollahan, treasurer.

MODERN LANGUAGE

This year a new club was formed at Central. Instead of having a separate club for each language, a Modern Language Club was formed for French German, Spanish, and Scandinavian students. Mrs. Alice Drechsler and Miss Ella Liskey were the advisers. A constitution based upon those of the German and French Club was drawn up. The first officers elected by the club were Harold Tkach, president; Loismarie Liedstrom, vice-president; Connie Bendickson, secretary; and Luther Dehnel, treasurer. The club combined with the Latin Club to give a Christmas Party, made leis to sell at the football games, and sold candy at the class plays.

In the spring, memberships were sold in the lunchroom and those interested in modern languages joined the club. The main features of the spring meetings were a film on Mexico and a talk by Miss Margaret Tupper, Spanish teacher at Washburn. Spring officers were Susan Breckenridge, president; Felicia Fort, vice president; Carol Berge, secretary; and Rosalind Tkach, treasurer.

To encourage fellowship regardless of race or creed is the aim of the Christian Fellowship Club. At their meetings, held every Tuesday, they had speakers and musical numbers. During the fall term, the club was advised by Mr. Erdahl and the officers were Joan Sears, president; Marilyn Anderson, vice-president; Katherine Smith, secretary; and Geanell Anderson, treasurer. Spring officers were Ruth Notvik, president; Sylvia Ness, vice president; Lorraine Johnson, secretary; and Irene Lidbom, treasurer. Miss McDill was the adviser.

CURRENT AFFAIRS CLUB

To provide an opportunity for discussion of national and international problems, the Current Affairs Club, under Mr. Robert Classon, was founded in 1938. At the meetings held on the first and third Tuesdays of each month, they had several interesting speakers including Mr. Basil Walters and Mr. Jordan, a foreign correspondent. The only qualification for membership was an interest in current affairs. The officers for the fall were Betty Swanson, president; Ted Willoughby, vice president; Jean Newberg, secretary; and Robert Peterson, treasurer.

Due to the withdrawal of Mr. Classon the Current Affairs Club was disbanded "for the duration."

CANDID SHOTS OF OUR TOWN

From a bright September morn, through a January blizzard, to a stifling June day, bookworms, jitterbugs, and the rest of us ordinary people enter Central each day. Principals, students, and teachers come together in the same old way to share or keep to themselves their thoughts, ambitions, and ideals. Looking around us, though, we can't quite feature the whole student body living up to this standard. Still, we class ourselves as "Average Intelligence."

The unerring eye of the candid camera catches that expectant gleam in the eyes of Carol Enger and Dona Hanson as they enter the "City of Wisdom" after a long week-end.

What has our keen observation uncovered here? Come now, girls, are you just posing for the camera or do you always pore over your textbooks with such genuine interest?

"Three Hams and a Hock," Dick Kranz, Jack Leighton, Norman Hockridge, and Dick Heeb, the well known locker room quartet, won't be forgotten very soon by the Centralites who saw their devastating rendition of "The Strip Polka" on the homecoming assembly. It isn't often we catch part of the football team in short skirts and lipstick.

TOWN TALENT

More Candid Shots of Our Town

What would old Central be without its musical aspect? Can't imagine coming near "400" without hearing echoes of the choir bursting forth with "Pilgrims' Chorus" or "Summer Time." That kind of music is for those who really know their stuff. Personally, we'll take Glantons boogie-woogie or some smooth popular strain that blossoms forth from anybody who happens to be in the mood for that sort of thing.

Don't look now, Jo, but your mouth is ajar. Whenever you hear a tuneful trio on their way to French, you know it's Mary Jane BaDour, Joan Overson, and Carol Berge.

Johnny "Duke" Glanton can't be beaten when it comes to piano boogie. Or is it your slow happy smile, Johnny, that brings on the applause when you appear for a concert?

"But, here, look at this one!" Doris Anderson, Art Bolter, Bette Fitzgerald, Suzanne Simmons, Kenny Holmes, and Milt Holmes take a final look at the Centralian dummy before it is off to the printer.

"A straight line is the shortest distance between two points, and besides, it saves a lot of time, and not only that—it saves shoe leather." Oh, Ralph Scroggins could think of a lot of grown-up reasons for sliding down the railings.

FUN CAN MIX WITH FACT

More Candids of '43

One of the greatest achievements made during one's years in school is the formation of friendships, whether lasting or temporary. These friendships are the most natural and easy that we will ever experience. They are many and they are varied. There are only three things needed to make a friendship—two people and a little time. There is no priority or scarcity of either of these, for only a few minutes at lunch each day, or while passing to class, or when working together on a school activity, or while brushing up on homework can easily take care of the problem.

The only thing wrong is that we do not always realize that we have in our possession "the best ship of all ships—friendship."

Someone ought to know what the answers are to these questions. Phyllis Duntley knows but she's not going to tell the members of the stronger (?) sex. Although Ted Wiloughby, Jim Villas, and Gordon Benson look very puzzled, George Westegren is going to find the answer in the book. In the right background John McDonnel and Paul Kendall talk while Allyn Puelston studies.

Now we ask you, where could you find a more beautiful group of girls? Oh, well, shucks, Central's full of beauties and cuties. That's why it's so hard to pick the homecoming queen every year. Come now, Fritz Witti, stop staring. 'Taint polite. Marlys Peterson, Carol Mork, Elizabeth Swanson, Pat McRoberts, and Esther Dokken, the royal family of the day, might object.

OUR TOWN CELEBRATES HOMECOMING

Candids of Life in '43

For weeks Centralites went around the halls with expectant looks on their faces. Yes, Homecoming Day was nearing. The festive day, October 23, began with a bang. Harold Falk, an old favorite, crowned Carol Mork queen at the assembly. The "Boogie Beats," Alice Nesbitt, Billy Herber, Mary Weber, and the locker room quartet all added their bit.

None of the school spirit was wasted in vain, for the Markleymen trampled the Vocational Volts in a 29-0 victory. Kenny Daire furnished the music for the dance, and the gymnasium was festooned with balloons and streamers. Tired but happy, the Pioneers went home and dreamt of the gala day.

"Did he make that last yard for a first down? Oh, no, it can't be! He's got to go over to make it." Laughing, screaming, and having scads of fun the football crowd gathers every year on the field to cheer the Pioneers throughout the season. Win or lose, we almost always fill the bleachers which, in a round about financial sort of a way, makes the athletic department happy.

Yes, this is one of Mr. Kuenster's civics classes. Although all of us weren't there, we really missed a lot, 'cause we've heard about all the fun they had. Incidentally, we've heard about all the tests and homework, too.

Why is this study hall so quiet? Either that dreaded English test is next period, or the first six weeks are almost over. More likely, the teacher's watching, or the show was too long last night . . . says I. And while it was sometimes very uncomfortable studying in those study hall seats, I suppose years from now we will look back and wish we could live it all over again. If so, Alumni of '43, come back for a visit.

KNOWLEDGE SEEKERS

Town Life in '43

Well, Patty Dickerson, is it the good source of information that draws you to the library or do we see some other motive behind your good intention? Oh, we see now, you're a library monitor, one of those people who keeps running up to tell people like Charles Deeds, Francis Gillis, and Elizabeth McDowell to "pipe down" and "get busy" or you know what! Anyway, who can study in a noisy room? We've got all the other things in the library that are needed for study, including good books, a nice librarian, comfortable chairs, and plenty of light so we might as well have peace and quiet.

ANGELS OF MERCY

How Our Town Helped in the War, 1943

The Red Cross aids in the relief of suffering caused by war, pestilence, famine, flood, fire and other great calamities. No wonder this organization is so busy. No wonder it is held in such high esteem.

Although the Central High Junior Red Cross Chapter is just a small cog in the huge machine, it still helps to make the wheels go around. This past year each student contributed at least ten cents. Our goal was $180; but we actually gave $450. As school projects, the sophomores collected coat hangers and phonograph records. The profits went to the Red Cross. Juniors and seniors gave an assembly and dance on March 31 proceeds of which were $150. Books were turned in for the servicemen in a campaign sponsored by English classes.

Centralites have given more than money to their Red Cross; all year they have given time for folding bandages, making scrapbooks for bedridden soldiers, knitting sweaters and afghans for soldiers and children. Some of them have even given blood.

Keeping stitches and seams straight on their Red Cross sewing has these girls in the sewing classes very busy. Still it will be good for them—in two ways. In the first place, they're helping their fellow men and also they're benefiting themselves by getting good experience.

TOWN ATHLETES

Mr. R. Peck, Mr. W. G. Hawker, Mr. C. T. Addington . . . .
Seated: Mr. J. H. Markley, Mr. E. Weber, Mr. W. W. Mitchell.

War brought the need for a more extensive physical fitness program to the attention of the American people. Therefore, this year, more than ever before, physical education was stressed in Central.

Gym was made a required subject for all boys. Previously, only sophomores had it. An obstacle course and periodical tests to determine each individual's strength were added to the gym curriculum.

It takes a great athletic staff to adapt its program to the demands of war time living, but that's exactly what Central had. Some of the most respected and best liked teachers at Central were the boys' athletic instructors.

Weston Mitchell has been at Central for 29 years. Specializing in basketball and football, he has produced four city championship basketball teams.

More trophies have been added to Central's collection by Joe Markley, gridiron and diamond coach, than by any other of the coaches. In his 19 years of service he has captured seven football championships and several basketball trophies.

Ed Weber came to Central in 1927 to coach swimming, tennis, and scrub football. Six of the last eight titles were won by his tennis team, and his swimming and football teams have always been good.

Bill Hawker, coach of the track team and a great pole vaulter in his own right has produced many cinder stars during his nine years as coach.

Golf instructor Charles Addington, has supervised many good teams during his 14 years in that position.

CENTRALVILLE COACHES

Miss Eugenia Ziemer has been the girls' coach at Central for 12 years. She introduced apparatus work to the girls a few years ago. That made physical education much more interesting. Because of her heavy schedule, she was forced to resign as advisor of G.A.A. Miss Bell is taking her place for the duration. At the left is Mrs. Dorothy Mansfield, former co-instructor in girls' gymnasium work. Mrs. Mansfield is now at home caring for her baby boy.

FOOTBALL

Central wasn't expected to win the championship last fall, but the trouncing it suffered at the hands of Washburn in the first game wasn't expected either. The Pioneers were young, green, and light. A fighting spirit counts a lot though, and after dropping a heart-breaker to Roosevelt, the Markleymen went on to conquer a traditional rival, West. All through the season the consistent spark plug of the team was Capt. Dick Heeb.

On Homecoming, nothing, not even the Volts, could stop the Pioneers. Twenty-one of their 28 points were scored by Ken Wallace. The Red and Blue finished the season with a flourish and proved that the dopesters can be wrong by upsetting South 6 to 0.

In the upper picture, Ken Wallace trips through the air as a Vocational player bites the dust. Below, Coach Markley discusses strategy with Gene Callahan while the Subs watch the game.

Undefeated, untied, and unscored upon! That was the record Central's scrub football team, coached by Ed Weber, maintained for two straight years!

In winning the four games on their schedule, the Webermen piled up a total score of 47 points to their opponents' zero.

Bill Pantages, a good prospect for the fullback berth on next year's varsity, was one of the outstanding members of the team. Other possibilities for the varsity are Earl Bowman, Larry Sanocki, Bob Gammen, Jay McKinstrey, Vernon Erickson, Tom Enger, and Wally Buchanan, all of whom played good ball for the scrubs.

BASKETBALL

With a daring opening game and one of the largest crowds in basketball history, Central's cagers downed Patrick Henry 22 to 20. North, smarting from a defeat, dumped the Pioneers the following week.

A second loss was suffered at the hands of Marshall. After Vocational's defeat, a new star was added to the Red and Blue in the form of Atherton Hughes. Hughes sparked the Mitchellmen in their next victory over the favored Roosevelt five. In their game with Southwest the sure shooting of the Central five overcame the Indians in a 41 to 24 victory. Edison's twin-city champions overpowered Central's cagers in the last tilt of the season.

With four victories and six defeats the Mitchellmen completed an exciting season which brought them more support from the student body than any in recent years.

TRACK

Although they began the 1942 season by failing to score a point in the Metropolitan Meet Bill Hawker's cinder men ended the season by winning third place in the city high school meet. They then went on to greater things by placing third in the State Meet.

Roy McMurchie in the quarter-mile, Bill Smock in the sprints, and a relay team consisting of Smock, McMurchie, Larry Sanocki, and Kenny Wallace, were the chief point winners.

Central won the city sophomore meet by a score of $33\frac{1}{2}$ points. Wallace was the team's outstanding sophomore.

BASEBALL

Getting off to a good start, the 1942 diamond team won their first game by defeating Southwest 14 to 6. They continued their winning streak by drubbing the Cowboys and the Teddies.

In Washburn, however, the Red and Blue met their match and were downed 4 to 1. Red Brennen, pitcher, was the mainstay of the team throughout the whole season. By winning nine of their eleven games, the Markleymen were able to end the season in second place.

TOWN TANKERS

SWIMMING

This year, as in previous years, Central presented a strong tank team which took third place in the city high school league.

In the first meet of the season the Red and Blue tied Washburn 36 to 36. Then spark plugged by Marve Montgomery, the "Winona Finn," they defeated Edison 51 to 24. The graduation of two stars, Heeb and Witherow, weakened the Webermen. This was evident when Marshall defeated Central in the next meet.

Throughout the season the mainstays of the Pioneer tanksters were Montgomery, Chapman, Horn and Paulson.

"C" AND EMBLEM WINNERS

Girls who received a red chenille "C" from the G.A.A. had earned 600 points in the various sports. To receive an emblem, a girl had to obtain 1,000 points.

Points were earned by playing a designated number of games in the tournaments. These tournaments included basketball, football, field hockey, riding, hiking, diamond ball, deck tennis, tennis, and badminton. For each sport she entered, a girl received 50 to 100 points. To have received an emblem or a "C," a girl must have had a C average in her studies.

"C's" and emblems were presented to the girls by Mr. Jarvis on Letter Day.

HOME TOWN HIKERS

G.A.A. HIKING

Ten enthusiastic members of the Hiking Club braved the changeable Minnesota weather to earn 50 points. Five hikes of five miles each were the means of earning these points. Jeanne Peterson, hiking chairman, planned the various hikes. A few places the girls hiked to were the Rose Gardens, the Auditorium, Thirty-sixth and Calhoun Boulevard, and Thirty-fifth and Hiawatha Avenue. The hikes were conducted on Tuesday afternoons. Before leaving on these hikes, the girls had to sign up in the gym, enabling the chairman to check attendance.

G.A.A.

The Girls' Athletic Association became a victim of the war this year, when it was disbanded for a short time due to the shortage of teachers. This spring it was reorganized under the leadership of Miss Clare Bell. It was founded in 1913 and since then has grown continually until the membership numbers about 150. The officers for the year were: president, Joyce Larson; vice president, Bonnie Djerf; and secretary, Jeanne Peterson. The board consisted of girls appointed as chairmen of the various sports.

Although it got off to a slow start, G.A.A. basketball was soon in full swing. Sophomores played on Monday and Wednesday afternoons in the beginning basketball tournament, under the leadership of Virginia Falk; while juniors and seniors played Tuesday and Thursday afternoons in the advanced tournament, under chairman Eleanor Langford. A girl must participate in all games to earn 100 points and at least five games to earn 50 points. Girls playing in the beginning tournament referee for advanced tournament and vice versa. The referees earn 50 to 100 points for refereeing five or all games.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Before I make any acknowledgments, may I ask that you, my reader, acknowledge the work of the Centralian Staff? Please do not forget that every writeup, every picture, and every caption that goes into the book does so only after being carefully planned, produced, and measured. This means a lot of work, a lot of work that may so very easily be forgotten by the subscribers.

Although the staff has worked more independently than other years, a full measure of our gratitude is extended to Mr. Milton Schadegg, Centralian adviser for his keen sense of humor, his wise suggestions, and his practical way of helping us with so many of our problems. May I extend our deep appreciation to the technical agencies whose services produced this annual? For these services I thank Mr. Percy Hopkins and the Empire Engraving Company, Mr. Charles Frantz and the Harrison and Smith Printing Company, and Mr. C. A. Kallberg of Photocraft Studios.

Now, I take the opportunity to give recognition to the staff members whose spirit made possible this successful book; Paul Granlund, for the numerous new ideas expressed in his art work; Betty Anderson, who as advertising manager, contributed largely to the success of the ad staff: Jean Newberg, for meeting all the difficult problems that faced her as faculty editor; Betty Swanson, for the literary work; Suzanne Simmons, for acting devoutly as photo editor; Betty FitzGerald, for keeping "the good book"; Virginia Anderson and Joan Baker, for "picking away" at the keys of the typewriter; Pat McRoberts, for helping Paul with the art section; Art Bolter, for serving as club editor and second assistant business manager; Kenny Holmes, for serving as the assistant to the editor; and last but most important, Doris Anderson, editor-in-chief, for her constant patience and skillful leadership of our staff. To her the success of this yearbook should be given credit.

MILTON C. HOLMES, Business Manager

High school glider classes from St. Louis Park, Minneapolis and St. Paul Central high schools were taken aloft for 15 minute hops by Ted Bollak, state glider director.

FLASH NEWS

CENTRAL HIGH GLIDER CLASS ONLY ONE IN MINNEAPOLIS

They actually flew in a glider!

May 13, 1943 was a red letter day for 14 Central High School boys, members of Mr. Maylon Hepp's glider construction class. On that day, under the supervision of Ted Bollak, director of the state glider program, the Central boys and Mr. Hepp took their first glider "hops" at the Flynn farm, the auxiliary airport at Northport, Minnesota. Glider classes from St. Louis Park and St. Paul Central high schools took their "hops" just preceding Central's.

Since early last fall these Central boys, who expect to enter aircraft construction as a life occupation, have been working in our workshops learning fundamentals of wooden aircraft construction through actually building a glider.

During the fall the boys received instructions from Mr. John Dunnewald who came to Central from Vocational High after he had taken a short course on motorless planes at St. Cloud. Under Mr. Dunnewald they studied from textbooks and practiced cutting, shaping, and sanding wood.

In the spring semester Mr. Dunnewald left Central, and the work of training the boys was then carried on by Mr. Hepp, who has headed the Industrial Department at Central since 1917.

Under the guidance of Mr. Hepp the class began actual construction of a glider. Their project was sponsored by the State Aeronautics Commission and the State Department of Education, which paid for all the materials. Parts for this glider were received in the form of a kit, composed mostly of wood which had to be cut, shaped, fitted and assembled. As the work progressed it became apparent that the boys were learning a great deal about aircraft instruction and controls.

Members of the class were Robert Anderson, Gordon Berg, Tom Burns, Phil Bissett, Kenneth Clark, Charles Dordan, Richard Gold, Robert Hubbard, James Humphreys, Allen Puelston, Kenneth Plantz, Clarence Sarkis, Wayne Thompson, and Ed Waldorf.

"The experience of flying was a great thrill to me," said Kenneth Plantz, a member of the class, "and all of the fellows were keen about the way state aviation leaders backed this project. The fact that Les Schroeder, director of the State Aeronautics Commission; William Green, Assistant Attorney General; and Mayor Marvin Kline all took 'hops' with us that day meant that we have real backing and that this was not just an ordinary school subject. I am sure glider construction together with Aviation Science should be very popular at Central after this."

DIARY OF THE EDITOR

DEAR DIARY:

June 4, 1942

Plans for the 1943 Centralian got under way this afternoon when the new staff met for the first time. Positions this year will be assigned after we take a staff-ranking examination in the fall. Until then we're going over to the National Scholastic Press Association office on the University campus as often as possible, and learn about the making of our '43 book. We hope our Centralian will not be "killed" by war priorities.

September 15, 1942

School opened yesterday, and we held our first fall meeting tonight after school. We talked over our summer activities and discussed questions that might be asked in the examination. Our first task will be to sell some 1942 Centralians that are left. Now we're beginning to function!

October 15, 1942

In order to produce an annual this year we must have proof of ample support from the student body. Our assembly this morning consisted of the girls' trio, Carol Berge, Joan Overson, and Mary Jane BaDour; Karl Scheurer, Symphony Orchestra violinist; George Anderson, magician; and Johnny Glanton's piano jive. We got our quota of 1000 plus subscriptions, so now we can go ahead with our plans.

October 20, 1942

Today is "the day." We gathered in room 403 after school and took the two-hour staff-ranking examination. It covered "everything we know and everything we don't know" about yearbook production.

October 28, 1942

All appointments to the 1943 Centralian staff were posted today. The "big ten" will consist of Milt Holmes, business manager; Kenneth Holmes, assistant editor; Betty Swanson, managing editor; Betty Anderson, advertising manager; Buzz Sandberg, literary editor; Paul Granlund, art editor; Lorraine Curry, feature editor; Suzanne Simmons, photo editor; Milt Schadegg, faculty adviser; and "little me" was appointed editor-in-chief.

November 11, 1942

Two carloads of us celebrated Armistice Day by making a trip to the N.S.P.A. office. We all looked for ideas for a theme, but we also took notes on ideas and special little plans that we might consider in our individual departments.

November 17, 1942

We took fall club pictures today and will take more tomorrow. Bud Paschke, business manager of the 1942 Centralian staff, came up after school and gave Milt and me some brotherly advice about leading the staff, and gave us a few ideas about handling our finances. We've decided to cancel subscriptions of those students who didn't make a twenty-five cent deposit by a specified date.

November 20, 1942

Several of us got together tonight and had a horseback riding party. It was cold, but we had a swell time. Later we went to a little cottage, provided for such things, and had a wiener roast and danced. It was so much fun having the gang all together.

The "big ten" met in the Centralian office after school last night. We presented our ideas for themes, discussed them, and voted on them. Final decision was made at a general staff meeting tonight. The book will be developed around the theme "Our Town."

A group of us went out on a hayride tonight. There was a sad shortage of women, but the food and dancing later made up for it.

Kenny, M. F., and I went over the little paper dummy which was drawn up by Donna Dalquist. It looks very nice but will need a few minor changes. The next step will be to transpose it onto large sized graph sheets. Paul and Pat are going to do that.

January 4, 1943

A few changes in appointments were made today. Betty Swanson assumed the duties of literary editor, while other appointments were as follows: Carol Berge, school life editor; Pat McRoberts, assistant art editor; Joan Newberg, faculty editor; and Art Bolter, club editor.

March 11, 1943

We presented our spring assembly today. Milt Holmes "M.C.'d" again, leading a program which had as its main feature Cedric Adams and his "Truth and Consequences" show. The girls' trio, Dick Gates, "Sonny" Leak, and Bob Charlebois, June '42, also lent their talent.

We decided this afternoon to dedicate the book to Mrs. Dorothy ??? , chief office clerk.

March 31, 1943

Our staying late and working was rewarded today when the first 32 pages went to the printers. Kind of makes me feel that it isn't just a dream, but an actual reality.

April 15, 1943

The last pages went to the printer today. We thought our work was just about all done, but did we get fooled! We've still got to read proofs, spot copy in our dummy, get proof pages back, measure and proof read them again, and send them back for the last time.

Well, diary, since this has to be sent along with the last pages, I'll have to tell you my hopes. Here they are: That the class play, banquet, baccalaureate services, and commencement exercises will be better than we hoped for; that the Centralian will meet the approval of all of its subscribers; and that the memories of the past year will be as swell for everyone else as they've been for me.

Love,

Dear Kathryn:
You've been a very good banker and quite patient in handling all my nickles and dimes.
Best of luck to you.
